

Enabling women

mentoring program

Empowering women of with disabilities through access, choice and respect

INFORMATION SESSION

- » Would you like to support a woman with a disability in your local community to further develop their leadership skills?
- » Are you interested in sharing your professional and personal skills and experiences, and to grow and develop in the process?
- » Would you like to improve your skills in listening, modelling and leading by mentoring a woman with a disability in your local community?
- » Would you like to share and impart knowledge of your own experience of being a woman with disability?

Women with Disabilities Victoria (WDV) are seeking women who are interested in supporting women with disabilities who wish to step up in their own communities. The mentoring program will complement the Enabling Women program, a successful leadership program for women with disabilities. Mentors will commit to six one-hour sessions. Contact can be a mixture of face-to-face, phone and email. A mentoring handbook is provided. Women of all ages and abilities are welcome to express interest. An information session in Wodonga will provide potential mentors with more information.
